India's mining industry is now aspiring to move ahead with an action plant to auction maximum mineral blocks in the approaching years. Subsequent to the notification of the amendments in the Mineral (Auction) Rules and Mineral (Povidence of Mineral Contents) Rules, the futuristic reforms have already started yielding prositive results. The miners that are not made operational within three years are already in the process of re-allocation by the states concerned. Similarly, the greenfield mines with public sector undertakings (PSUS), which have not started production to date, are also being auctioned by the state governments. The financial years 2020-21 and 2021-22 have already seen great performance by the sector, owing to the reforms — as the amendments brought a large number of blocks for auction, and facilitated a transporent and time-bound auction process. As a result, J Diolocks have been auctioned, 27 fresh NTTs have been issued and 103 NTTs are in the pipelline for the coming months.
